Scandinavian Spaces Looks to the Future... Brand Breaks Ground on 43,000 square foot state-of-art-facility

Austin, TX. March 2021 — Scandinavian Spaces is quickly on the rise to become the next furniture powerhouse for the like-minded creative. On February 2nd, 2021, the Scandi team gathered with the town of Round Rock, Texas and broke ground to commemorate a pivotal moment for the mod Scandinavian designed furniture line. Exceeding all expectations in the midst of significant global uncertainty, Scandinavian Spaces has continued to grow exponentially. As a result, the 43,000 square foot state-of-the-art facility will house a sophisticated showroom and sprawling new warehouse to support the next chapter in the company's evolution.

Partnering with IA Interior Architects of Austin, TX office to design the showroom and working with the Altman Group developers, the facility is set to be completed in December, 2021. On trend with the brand's commitment to simplicity and ease – one of the goals for the expansion is to establish a quick-ship program that provides readily available and stocked products. Developing a warehouse facility in North America will optimize daily procedures and provide direct operational oversight.

"Trust and confidence is key. We wanted to not only provide beautifully modern solutions for designers, but continue to support our community throughout the entire process. Establishing a strong sense of security in logistics, as well as design, is important to us.....expanding our facilities is instrumental to the growth and future of Scandinavian Spaces." Explains Co-Founder Robert Jonsson. "This is a monumental milestone for us. We have built a brand we fundamentally believe in and our success has been both humbling and inspiring. Our moment has arrived and it is far from fleeting."
